The Basics Let's start with a simple example. Click on the small purple arrow icons below the layers panel to see a list of all your active layers. If you want to create a new image, choose File | New. A new document with the default background color will open up. Give it a name and click OK. Now you have a new document. A default is created with a large white background and an active layer with a white background. Choose File | Open. A dialog box will appear with all of your saved files from before. Select the new document you just created. Then scroll to the bottom and select the "Open" option. A small dialog box will come up and all of your files will appear. Choose the file you want to open and press OK. A new dialog box will pop up with your selected image. Click the "OK" button in the small dialog window. Check the box next to the layer that you want to be the active layer. Use the arrow buttons to move the layer around. If you want to duplicate layers, hold down the control key and press the alt key to duplicate. Some shortcuts to note to quickly move or duplicate layers. The CTRL and alt keys work on the keyboard, NOT by holding down on the keys (this is a keyboard shortcut for both the keyboard AND the mouse) ALT + Shift + I J K L to Move Layers up or down. CTRL + Shift + I J K L to Duplicate a layer (move and duplicate at the same time). Click on a smaller square icon to add a mask to the active layer. Click on a larger square icon to remove a mask from the active layer. If you want to make a selection of an area of an image, click on the small square icon with the white square in the middle. Then drag a rectangle around the selection. Click on the mask icon in the Layers Panel to turn the selection into a mask. Now you can select the layer you want to edit or move, and it will have an area of solid color showing which area of the original image is visible through the selection. You can click on a color of the selection to change the color of the selection. Use the M key to hide the layers. Move a

Learn how to work with elements, use tools, create new shapes and modify your existing images in the Photoshop Elements 2018 tutorial! Learn Photoshop Elements 2018 in this comprehensive 5-day tutorial series. Watch how photographers use the Adobe Photoshop Elements tool set to edit and create new images. In the first lesson of the series, you'll learn how to add text to your image. This will include formatting the text, customizing the text, positioning the text and fitting the text. In the 2nd lesson, you'll create a new custom shape. You'll learn how to draw the shape, add special effects to the new shape, how to rotate and scale the shape, how to move the shape, and how to crop the shape. In the 3rd lesson, you'll learn how to paint with your mouse. You'll learn how to select the object you want to paint, how to use a brush, how to apply a radial gradient, how to change the color of the brush, how to navigate the canvas, and how to apply the paint. In the 4th lesson, you'll learn how to edit the actual paint with various tools. You'll learn how to use brush tools like the airbrush, the eraser, and the pencil. You'll also learn how to use the healing tool to retouch damaged areas and the magic wand tool to select the area. In the 5th and final lesson, you'll learn how to combine the various tools and paint tools to create even more complicated graphics. You'll learn how to create a watercolor effect, how to add a border or gradient to your image, how to add color, combine two images, how to add a text effect, and how to add a logo to an image. In this Photoshop Elements tutorial, Bryan Harris will show you how to use editing tools to create a vibrant image of a girl. There are so many websites and programs that can help you edit photos, but it takes a lot of practice and time to learn the basics of Photoshop Elements, so it's best to learn from someone that is experienced and proficient with the toolset. Bryan Harris works at LEADbrandmedia as a web designer and graphic artist in Nashville, Tennessee. He is also a Certified Adobe Master Trainer and a Certified Photoshop Instructor. In addition to graphic design, Bryan also enjoys photography

First-trimester trisomy 13 and 18. To assess the prevalence and spectrum of anomalies in fetuses with trisomy 13 and 18, we reviewed the medical records of all trisomy 13 and 18 fetuses diagnosed during the first trimester from January 1982 to December 1988. The data were collected retrospectively from one institution, the Institute of Human Teratology, where the case load includes about 2% of all genetic anomalies. Only cases with confirmed karyotyping were included in this study. There were eight fetuses with trisomy 13 and 15 with trisomy 18. The mean maternal age was 31.2 for both groups. Trisomy 13 fetuses were larger in size than those with trisomy 18 (1,105.6 vs 922.8 gm., P Wednesday, November 22, 2008 Christmas Candy - Chocolate Covered Pretzels. These adorable pretzels were made a few weeks ago and put in their Christmas candy tin. I love the way the chocolate looks like a snow plow on these chocolate covered pretzels. They are the perfect holiday treat. Happy Thanksgiving. 8 comments: chocolate covered pretzels make me very happy...the slightly more i love them is you covered them with peanut butter and raisins. when i was little i remember eating the combination in a paper bag as i walked to school. those were the good old days. I love these chocolate covered pretzels. I have seen so many chocolate covered pretzel recipes but this one has definite appeal for me. The pretzels are fun and look creative. Thanks for sharing with us at I Love To Bake @ The Andover Project. Do you have a "Christmas candy tin" for your toys, or did you purchase one of those? I was just wondering. I have two candy

Warfarin versus heparin in a "triple therapy" protocol for nonrheumatic atrial fibrillation in a cardiac surgery unit: impact of external quality assurance on outcome. An observational study was conducted to compare the effectiveness and bleeding rates of warfarin versus heparin treatment in a cohort of patients with nonrheumatic atrial fibrillation who underwent cardiac surgery. The study was performed in patients undergoing cardiac surgery from November 1989 to January 1991. Patients who had a moderate or high risk of thromboembolism were randomized to either warfarin or heparin. A group of patients treated with heparin formed a clinical control group. The rate of thromboembolism was lower in the warfarin group (2.1%) than in the heparin group (7.6%; $P = 0.05$). The rate of postoperative bleeding was 3.3% in the warfarin group, which was statistically significantly lower than bleeding in the heparin group (8.9%; $P = 0.04$). Of the 59 patients randomized to warfarin therapy, 2 died and 4 required reoperation. In the heparin group, 6 patients died, 7 required reoperation, and 12 had pulmonary embolism. The results suggest that for prevention of thromboembolism, warfarin rather than heparin is the drug of choice in nonrheumatic atrial fibrillation in cardiac surgery patients. The proposed studies will investigate the regulation of amyloid precursor protein (APP) expression, processing and degradation, as well as the trafficking of newly synthesized APP along the secretory and endocytic pathways. Using primary cortical neurons cultured from embryos and prepared for patch-clamp electrophysiology or amperometry, I will address these questions by examining both acutely dissociated neurons and neurons cultured on laminin. Using proteomic methods, I will identify the APP-binding partners in the post-synaptic density (PSD) of the pre- and post-synaptic terminals, the sub-domains of the PSD that bind APP, and the PSD proteins that bind APP in the synaptic terminals. Using a novel APP-knockout mouse, I will examine the role of APP in the formation of secretory and endocytic vesicles in mouse brain. By combining biochemical and functional studies in vitro and in vivo, the proposed studies will reveal new molecular details concerning the biogenesis
