The result is a ground-breaking data-driven player model that makes even the most difficult players' movements, such as sprinting with the ball, more realistic. They also make all players more balanced and dynamic. "We are extremely proud to have been able to work with the world's top athletes in the design of HyperMotion Technology," said Matt Prior, Head of Player Modeling. "It's clear from the reaction from players and coaches to the game that it delivers the most realistic player models ever created, with the HyperMotion tech giving players' movements more speed and intensity." Key Features Motion Technology (TM): Powered by Player Takedowns and multiple types of new Player Energies, Physically Based Physics, and Player Motion Analysis, HyperMotion Technology reproduces more realistic and dynamic player movements in real-time gameplay. Motion Technology also drives all new player animations, giving players more energy, spark, and aggression throughout the game. A new Sprint System allows players to increase their top speed using a Dribble Shot and more accurately control their acceleration and deceleration. Expanded Pass Types make passing options more varied and realistic, allowing players to do more. The new Camera Pass System gives players more options in how they pass the ball, while the new Short Pass system opens up a new passing lane. With new options for rapid long passes, such as the Shimmering Ball, Off-ball runs and powerful deep passes, players can play in any way they want. New Volley Systems, Footwork and Pass Defense systems were also developed to give players greater control over the pitch. Technical Features Expanded Physics Engine: Building on FIFA 21's physics engine, which supported a new era of football with its ground-breaking fluid dynamics, the all-new physics system introduced in FIFA 22 brings the ball closer to the player and dynamically changes how the ball behaves in any given situation. The Ball Physics model also supports four different ball states: Responsive, Crazy, Bungy, and Friction. All these ball states make the ball behave more realistically in different situations, supporting all levels of play and game modes, including FIFA Ultimate Team. World-class Foot Physics: With over 7,000 changes, FIFA 22's Foot Physics is the most extensive in FIFA history

FIFA is a football simulation game developed by EA Sports, which is the #1 football video game in the world for the past 33 years. More than 80 million players around the world (in 78 countries) are drawn into the FIFA World and the FIFA Women's World Cups every year. Millions more play online, in popular FIFA mobile games, or through the new FIFA Interactive World Cup, where they can create and play their own content. FIFA is available in all major gaming formats - PC, PlayStation®4, Xbox One, and Nintendo Switch™, and is set to launch in China on September 18th. In addition, FIFA will be available on mobile platforms via mobile game and app stores in Europe, USA and other countries. FIFA 20 Features: Pro Evolution Soccer powered by PES The World's #1 ball-control focused game is coming to FIFA for the first time ever! Starting September 6th, FIFA 20 will include both a core licensed EAS Pro Evolution Soccer game and the standalone Expansion Packs. Pro Evolution Soccer - Road to 2030 is built from the ground up to make FIFA more accessible than ever with a brand-new Control System that offers full control of players on and off the ball. Additional modes, such as Skill Games and Training, as well as new visuals and commentary, make FIFA 20 PES a fresh and accessible game that will satisfy new and seasoned fans alike. New World Cup Mode A new World Cup Mode lets you play as the host nation and compete in the World Cup with the same World Cup tools, stadiums, and players as you would in real life. You can now play FIFA World Cups online, invite a friend, and share replays via social channels. New Authenticity Rating Players are now rated using a "FIFA Scoreboard Rating" system. You can now recognize players who are successful in Real Life and use that information to decide who to select, who to take off the bench, or who to leave out of your starting lineup. New Creator Mode FIFA's new Creator Mode lets you create your own custom-made matches. Set up your team, select your formations and lineups, and watch your custom matches unfold in real time. New Youth Game In FIFA 20, you can now help the young players of your squad grow and compete in a revised training mode. Use a new coaching system to
